I m findlay s elegant new translation is a work of textual and historical scholarship few books have had as much of an impact on modern history as the communist manifesto since it was first published in 1848 it has become the rallying cry for revolutionary movements around the world this new broadview edition draws on the 1888 samuel moore translation supervised by engels the standard english version in marxist discourse and on the original helen macfarlane translation into english of 1850 throughout findlay draws on a variety of disciplines and maintains a broad ranging perspective among the appendices are engels draft of a communist confession of faith correspondence and journalism of marx and engels ten illustrations and eight additional influential political manifestos from the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the communist manifesto authored by karl marx and friedrich engels is a seminal text that outlines the principles of communism and the historical development of class struggles the manifesto begins by asserting that all historical societies have been characterized by class conflicts such as those between freemen and slaves or lords and serfs in modern times these conflicts have evolved into a struggle between the bourgeoisie who control the means of production and the proletariat the working class the text argues that the bourgeoisie has played a revolutionary role in history by dismantling feudal structures and creating a market in transformation however this has also led to the exploitation and alienation of the proletariat marx and engels propose that the proletariat as the only truly revolutionary class must overthrow the bourgeoisie to establish a classless society the manifesto also critiques various forms of socialism including feudal and petty bourgeois socialism for their inability to address the root causes of class struggle the authors advocate for the abolition of bourgeois property and the establishment of communal ownership of the means of production they emphasize that the communist movement seeks to represent the interests of the proletariat as a whole transcending national boundaries and aiming for emancipatory change
